A DISTINGUISHED VISITOR

Isaac Zangwill, who is at present in Florida and the guest at a St. Augustine hotel, is today recognized as one of the few living men of letters deserving the title of genius.
He is in reality a son of the Ghetto. He was born in a Jewish slum in the East End of London, the son of an alien immigrant who entered England in 1818 no richer in the world's goods than most alien immigrants.
As a mere lad, Zangwill used to write little broadsheets in Yiddish, set them in type, print them himself and sell them to his co-religionists. They were eagerly bought by crowds around the Jewish markets, but bitterly denounced by many of the orthodox as being heretical. But some of the stuff in them was so good that it has been incorporated, word for word, in the books which have since made Zangwill's name famous to the world over as "the Dickens of the Ghetto."

Today Zangwill is a lion in English society and Judaism, however much it may argue over his opinions, undoubtedly regards him as one of its greatest philosophers, thinkers and leaders, and the strongest personal force in the Zionist movement.

America gave Zangwill his first great chance and he has never forgotten it. He has visited this country several times and always speaks of America and the Americans in high terms.

Zangwill is only 40 years old, and his greatest career is probably before him. If the new Zion is established he will be its laureate and philosopher—perhaps its greatest statesman.

In his poem, "Israel," Zangwill sums up his view of the Jews status throughout the world. The poem is as follows:

Hear, O Israel, Jehovah the Lord our God is One,
But we, Jehovah, His people, are dual and so undone.

Slaves in eternal Egypt, baking their strawless bricks,
At ease in successive Zions, prating their politics.

Rotting in sunlit Roumania, pigging in Russian Poland,
Driving in Park, Bois, and Prater, clinging to Fashion's tail.

Reeling before every rowdy, sore with a hundred slings,
Clothed in fine linen and purple, loved at the courts of kings.

Priests of the household altar, blessing the bread and wine,
Lords of the hells of Gomorrah, licensed keepers of swine.

Wedded 'neath Hebrew awning, buried 'neath Hebrew sod,
Between not a dream of duty, never a glimpse of God.

Risking our lives for our countries, loving our nations' flags,
Hounded therefrom in repayment, hugging our bloody rags.

Tantalus-Proteus of Peoples, security comes from within!
Where is the Lion of Judah? Wearing an ass's skin!

Hear, O Israel, Jehovah the Lord our God is One,
But we, Jehovah, His people, are dual and so undone.

SUCCESSFUL THINKING.

A real nice young man who reads books wants to know if there is anything in the system of "New Thought" as related to success in life.

Yes, indeed, there is.

The essence of the New Thought is in the Scripture which says, "As he thinketh in his heart, so is he."

If you think you are going to succeed in life you have already won half the battle—always provided you keep on thinking so.

Of a woman it has been wisely said, "she who hesitates is lost." So also of a man. And he who doubts is damned. Hesitancy and doubt, put into a composite, spell failure.

The person that admits the thought of failure into his mind and lets it lie there will find that it will gradually penetrate body, mind and spirit. It will become a part of him. It will weaken him. It will change him. It will pull him down.

No young man can afford to think otherwise than that he is pre-destined to success. Any other kind of thinking is an element of weakness that will surely paralyze his ability to do and to be.

Do not allow your mind to dwell on the obstacles that confront you. By doing so you will build up a wall that will block your forward passage.

Think success. Say success. Dream success. And never quit thinking and saying and dreaming success.

Saturate yourself with the success thought and feeling.

Your state of mind has everything to do with your ability to overcome. Is there a hill in front of you? Well, push on. The hill may not get out of the way (if it is a real hill) but you will be over it before you know it.

Sure, young man, the ability to persistently think success is the surest way to attain it.

Senator Mitchell of Oregon has been indicted again. He may be innocent, but the fact still remains that good men who make their money honestly and attend strictly to their own business are never indicted at all.

GROWTH OF AN INDUSTRY.

Thirty years ago, all through the north, west and middle south, an orange was a luxury. If you were a boy then and lived in a small town you got one for Christmas and perhaps none at all the rest of the year. A pineapple was something you knew nothing about and the banana was a pulpy mystery. As for tangerines, grapefruit, etc., they did not exist for you.

Since that time a great tropical and sub-tropical industry has grown up. It is so great as to be almost beyond comprehension. It means prosperity to a great part of the world, and here in some counties of Florida fruit culture is the leading industry.

That is why there was so much concern felt here two weeks ago. It was thought that the extreme cold had injured our orange trees. But it did not.

The appetite of the people of the United States for tropical and sub-tropical fruit products has reached such proportions that in the fiscal year 1904 'tis said the total amount paid for these products was over $400,000,000.

Think of it. Nearly $1,500,000 per day for things that were luxuries a few years ago.

And that this appetite is a growing one as well as a healthy one is cause for thankfulness in Florida. We produce the finest flavored orange in the world. And if the cold will stay away we will soon convince the balance of the world of this fact.

And as to health, doctors will tell you that this widespread consumption of tropical fruit has a direct bearing on the good health of the nation.

The Manatee River Journal had an amusing editorial last week entitled "We Never Freeze." Here is a sample paragraph: "The Manatee River section has again demonstrated its practical exemption from cold and made its title clear to the claim that 'We never freeze.' The great cold wave which came down on the state last week, reached us and left signs of its visit. Ice formed in many places throughout the county, and tender vegetation was everywhere killed, if left unprotected, and there is little doubt that the oranges still remaining on the trees were frozen, but the fact remains that, 'We never freeze,' as the term implies in other sections of the state." It may be stated for the benefit of the Journal that we have yet to hear of any part of Florida where greater damage resulted than that which it depicts.

Now that the highest judicial body in the land has declared that there is a beef trust, the question naturally arises, what is the republican administration going to do about it?

A Washington society woman is suffering from the effects of having accepted twenty-four dinner invitations in thirty days. Her course of action may have been injurious physically, but the economy of her plan cannot be doubted.

The board of managers of the New Jersey home for girls have introduced vocal and instrumental music, on the theory that good music makes good girls. It is also true that some good girls make very poor music.

If the encroachments of the Standard Oil company continue at the present rate it will not be many years before the United States will be forced into the hands of a receiver.

Gov. Broward has appointed one Col. Cochran to the office of county judge in De Soto county in face of the fact that the democratic executive committee of the county recommended another man, and one who received more democratic votes in the primary election than the combined strength of all petitions sent to Tallahassee in the matter. The De Soto County News, in referring to the matter, says: "Col. Cochran, who is a most excellent gentleman, so far as the News knows, was an ardent admirer and supporter of Governor Broward during the late primary election, while the gentleman recommended by the committee saw fit to support one of the other democrats in the race. That is the whole situation in a nutshell."

Niedringhaus, Kleinschmidt and Finkenberg are republican candidates for the United States senatorship from Missouri. Now if some good American citizen should enter the race, perhaps the deadlock could be broken.

Mr. Roosevelt was elected by republicans, but when it comes to questions of railroad rates and tariff schedules he acts very much like a democrat.

Made Her Curious.

Wretch of a Man (at the club)—I say, you fellows, my wife went off to see her mother lately, intending to stay for a few weeks. Do you know what I did?

I sent her a paper every day with a paragraph cut out, and she was so full of curiosity to know what local news I was keeping from her that she came home at the end of four days.

W. C. T. U. COLUMN.

Faithful Servants of the Father of Lies.

The rumormongers are circulating tracts in which they quote from multitudes of writers and newspapers sentiments against prohibition and in favor of the moderate and occasional use of alcoholic liquors. They take pains not to tell at what time the statements appeared. Having examined them, we find it highly improbable that in very many cases they are correct. There is one credited to Abraham Lincoln which is placed second. It reads as follows:

"Prohibition will work great injury to the cause of temperance. It is a species of intemperance within itself, for it goes beyond the bounds of reason, in that it attempts to control a man's appetite by legislation and in making crimes out of things that are not crimes. A prohibition law strikes a blow at the very principles on which our government was founded. I have always been found laboring to protect the weaker classes from the stronger, and I never can give my consent to such a law as you propose to enact. Until my tongue shall be silenced in death I will continue to fight for the rights of men."

This was manufactured by the advocates of the saloon. Any one familiar with Mr. Lincoln's style knows that he never would have written such poor English. In 1890 it was sent to John G. Nicolay, who, with John Hay, was Mr. Lincoln's biographer, who made the following reply:

"In connection with our biographical studies we have been for many years engaged in making a complete and authentic collection of Mr. Lincoln's speeches and writings of every character, which we are preparing for early publication. In this vast collection there is nowhere any speech, letter, document, or reported conversation by him on the subject of prohibition. So far as our knowledge extends, the various quotations touching this topic floating about the newspapers attributed to him are all spurious. * * * and I am satisfied that the question of legal prohibition was never, in Lincoln's whole career, anywhere an issue upon which he expressed an opinion."

No doubt many of the others are published under the names of men who never saw them.—New York Christian Advocate.

CROUP.

Begins with the symptoms of a common cold; there is chilliness, sneezing, sore throat, hot skin, quick pulse, hoarseness and impeded respiration. Give frequent small doses of Ballard's Forehead Syrup, (the child will cry for it) and at the first sign of a croupy cough, apply frequently Ballard's Snow Liniment to the throat.

Mrs. A. Villet, New Castle, Colo., writes, March 19th, 1904: "I think Ballard's Forehead Syrup is a wonderful remedy, and so pleasant." 25c, 50c and $1.00. Sold by Ackerman & Stewart's, Palatka, and Lounds' Drug Store, Crescent City.

Posthumous Editions.

"Did you ever see anything to equal the way some of these live young authors turn out books?"

"Well, they can't compete with some of the dead ones who keep on getting out new volumes every year."—New Orleans Picayune.

A Test of Sobriety.

Gentlemen who have put an enemy into their mouths are recommended to try a simple test for the purpose of finding out whether their brains have been stolen. They must stand erect with their eyes closed, and if they can perform this feat for a brief period they may come to the conclusion that they are all right. Two individuals who were accused of drunkenness at Pontefract proved that they had honorably stood the test, and the cases against them were dismissed. The great merit of the plan is that it can be put into operation anywhere and at any time.—London Tit-Bits.

Merits His Fate.

"I see that an eastern editor says that as a matter of fact women form clubs simply as an excuse for eating and drinking between meals."

"Horrid thing! Is he married or single?"

"Because if he's either he doesn't deserve to be."—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

Presidential Inauguration Ceremonies

Washington, D. C., March 4, 1905.

For the above occasion round trip tickets will be sold by the Atlantic Coast Line from all points to Washington and return at one fare plus twenty-five cents and for military companies and brass bands, in uniform, twenty (20) or more on one party ticket, one cent per mile per capita in each direction.

These tickets will be sold March 1st, 2nd and 3rd 1905, returning tickets must be validated in Washington not later than March 31, 1905, and return trip started on date of validation, except that upon payment of one ($1.00) dollar and by depositing ticket with Special Agent in Washington, not later than 8:00 p. m. of March 31, 1905, extension can be arranged until March 15th.

This is an opportunity that none should miss. The attractions of Washington are more numerous than any other city in America and one could spend an entire season sight-seeing without ever tiring of the sights.

The Jiu Jitsu's Undoing

PHILETUS BROWN secured by mail a Jiu Jitsu course.
He learned the way to use his strength with suddenness and force.
And how to swiftly call in play each muscular resource.
He learned to twist
His hand and wrist
And knock you down without so much as doubling up his fist.

When he was letter perfect in the art Philetus Brown became the fistic champion and terror of the town.

Before you knew that he had moved he had you falling down.
When his quick jerk
Got in its work
You thought you'd been where dynamite and other dangers lurk.

He took big Henry Billiger, who weighed three hundred pounds,
And slugged him here and there with ease across the baseball grounds,
And Henry's gasps of wonder were the only noted sounds.

Within a week
No one would speak
Of physical perfection—we were mighty mild and meek.

One day while Brown of brawn and brain in beautiful accents talked
Joe Southern sauntered up and said his old man mule had balked
Philetus hunched his shoulders, and toward that mule he walked.

Though slight and slim,
His look was grim,
And we in expectation hastened out and followed him.

Philetus Brown removed his coat, complacent, calm and cool,
And boldly seized the pendant tail of Joseph Southern's mule.
Unheeding Joe's remark that he was acting like a fool.

A wretch, a buzz,
That's all there was,
Except an interrupted "Here's what Jiu Jitsu does!"

Philetus Brown is out again. He hobbles with a crutch
And wraps himself with bandages—he's still too sore to touch.
He hasn't yet explained the case—he isn't talking much.

Some of us thought
That like a nut
The mule had learned a trick or two Philetus hadn't got.

Reason For Laughter.

When the young mistress of the house entered the kitchen she carried herself with great dignity. She had come to call the cook to account.

"Mary," she said, "I must insist that you keep better hours and that you have less company in the kitchen at night. Last night I was kept awake because of the uproarious laughter of one of your women friends."

"Yes, mum, I know," Mary replied cheerfully, "but she couldn't help it. I was telling her how you tried to make cake yesterday morning."—Birmingham (England) Post.

An Impressionist.

His Friend—But what does it mean? The Artist—Ah, that's just it! Don't mean anything! I'm an impressionist!—New York American.

A Thing to Avoid.

"Ha, that's a clever story," laughed Dawson. "Here comes Boreum; tell it to him."

"No," said Dawson, "it would be suggestive to him."

"Nonsense! Nobody could possibly consider that story suggestive."

"He could. He'd consider it suggestive of some old chestnut which he'd insist upon telling."—Catholic Standard and Times.

On Display.

Husband—Why in the world do you keep your new fur bon hanging out on the line?

Mrs. Fluffy—Because I nearly roared with it on this kind of weather and it's the only way I can let people know that I've got it.—Detroit Free Press.

Reward of Genius.

Meeks—There goes a successful inventor.

Weeks—So? What did he invent?

Meeks—He invented a new excuse to give his wife for mending all night and midnight, and strange to say, it worked.—Chicago News.

As to Love.

Aunt Jane—But do you really believe young Mr. Amour loves you as much as he says he does?

Emmie—Of course not, Aunt Jane. A lover who can't exaggerate his affection is just no lover at all.—Boston Transcript.

His Invention.

Mrs. McFlub—Your husband seems to be quite versatile. Has he ever invented anything?

Mrs. Sleeth—Oh, yes; one of the finest lines of midnight excuses you ever listened to.—Louisville Courier-Journal.

His Technical Defense.

"What reason does he give for not paying his wife alimony?"

"He says that marriage is a lottery, and hence alimony is a gambling debt."—Collier's Weekly.

Running No Risks.

"Have you any teeth, grandpa?"

"No, my boy."

"Then you can hold these nuts for me."—Columbia Jester.

Interchangeable Tickets.

In traveling you will find it very convenient to use Atlantic Coast Line interchangeable mileage tickets good over approximately 150,000 miles of railroad. These tickets will be honored as far East as Washington and West to Cincinnati, Louisville, Evansville and St. Louis. Take advantage of this arrangement and avoid the inconvenience of purchasing additional mileage books. Superior train service to all points East, West and South. W. H. LEAHY, D. P. A. W. J. CHASE, D.
